NEWS & EVENTS

Big Press for Film & TV Instructor Beth Keener

From the classroom to the big screen, Beth Keener has been busy with zombies the past few months! She found herself in Senoia, GA this past June on the set of one of television's most popular shows! She appeared on AMC's The Walking Dead season 6 premiere and her character, Annie, was recently killed off the show like so many others. Get more on her big debut in the recent Marietta Daily Journal article HERE.

Kennesaw State University's Joel A. Katz Music and Entertainment Business (MEBUS) program has been selected as an official University Affiliate of the GRAMMY Museum® at L.A. LIVE, as one of only three institutions across the country named so far this year. "We are honored to receive this recognition and look forward to watching our students greatly benefit from the many opportunities offered through this GRAMMY Museum partnership," said Keith Perissi, director of KSU's MEBUS program.

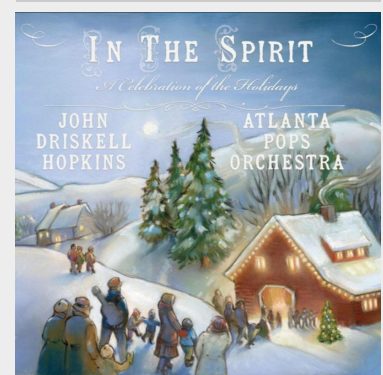

As a University Affiliate of the GRAMMY Museum, the MEBUS program, a joint venture of the College of the Arts and the Coles College of Business at KSU, will have access to Museum content for educational purposes, curriculum resources, research programs,

Last London Info Session of the Semester!

We have one final London Info Session scheduled for November 18th at 5:00pm here at the MEBUS house. Our Education Abroad Coordinator, Erin Rasche, will be attending to give pointers on how to fundraise for your trip, scholarships available and the application process. Parents are welcome. Hope to see you there!

internship opportunities, professional development seminars, collaborative marketing, promotions and project-based learning.

A leading model for academic and applied studies in the music and entertainment industry, the MEBUS program teaches business acumen and the business side of the industry while providing practical experiences, on-the-job training and exploration of career opportunities. The program's founder and namesake, Joel A. Katz, is one of the nation's foremost entertainment attorneys.

"We're thrilled to welcome the Joel A. Katz Music and Entertainment Business Program into our GRAMMY Museum University Affiliate family," said Bob Santelli, Executive Director of the GRAMMY Museum. "The program's close proximity to the Atlanta chapter of The Recording Academy will provide a unique opportunity for the Museum to interact and engage with students interested in pursuing careers in music."

The new partnership was announced Oct. 30 during a reception at Kennesaw State. The University is now one of eight institutions inducted into the GRAMMY Museum University Affiliate program since it launched in 2014.
